

RIVERS IN YOUR SKIN, SIRENS IN YOUR HAIR

A COLLECTION OF POEMS
BY MARISCA PICHETTE

“Rivers in Your Skin, Sirens in Your Hair speaks to the wayward traveller, those seeking fantasy in a world of harsh realities but also those who dare speak of the inherent challenges so commonplace in the lives of humanity. The past reverberates throughout the present and future within this collection which adds not only gravitas but richer meaning beyond the surface of striking, seldom read imagery.”

When I left home I took only what I could carry...

What will you bring with you down the path, through the hills and into the woods? Fragments, stories, living things? Echoes of the past, promises for the future?

In fifty new and collected poems, Marisca Pichette celebrates myth, folklore, and memory. Her poems traverse landscapes both real and imagined, taking inherited tales and retelling them through a queer lens.

From dusk into the night and out again at dawn, her work offers you a magical journey in speculative verse.
